

VOCABULARY

1 Write an example of a food source that can lead to the development of the following types of food poisoning bacteria.

Food poisoning bacteria	Food source
1 bacillus cereus	_____
2 campylobacter	_____
3 E. coli	_____
4 listeria	_____
5 salmonella	_____
6 staphylococcus aureus	_____

2 Put the foods in the correct column according to their principal nutrient.

apple • beef • biscuit • bread • butter • cake • carrot • cheese • chickpea • crème fraîche • egg • fish • milk • oil • pasta • potato • rice • spinach • tomato • yoghurt

Calcium	Carbohydrates	Fats & Sugars	Protein	Vitamins & Minerals
_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____	_____	_____
_____	_____	_____	_____	_____

GRAMMAR

3 Match the beginnings and the endings of these third conditional sentences.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 If you had cooked the rice properly, | a <input type="checkbox"/> he might not have infected the other members of staff. |
| 2 If you had washed your hands, | b <input type="checkbox"/> she wouldn't have contracted salmonella. |
| 3 If she hadn't eaten raw eggs, | c <input type="checkbox"/> the customer wouldn't have complained about the hair in his soup. |
| 4 If he hadn't come to work with a cold, | d <input type="checkbox"/> the meat wouldn't have become contaminated. |
| 5 If you had tied your hair back, | e <input type="checkbox"/> you wouldn't have got food poisoning. |

4 Complete the sentences with the correct present or past modals of deduction: must, can, may, might, could, can't, must have, can have, may have, might have, could have, can't have.

- The owners _____ put poison down because they found dead rats in the morning.
- The fridge _____ be overfull as it isn't working properly.
- The commis _____ rotated the supplies properly as the tin was past its sell-by date.
- The contents of the tin _____ not be intact as the tin is dented and corroded.
- People who eat a Mediterranean diet generally live a long time so it _____ be healthy.
- Only one of our party didn't suffer from food poisoning after dinner, so he _____ eaten the infected seafood.