The British drink approximately three cups of tea a day. Many people have tea at 11.00 and then again between 3.30 and 5.00 p.m. However, tea at any time of the day is a popular drink for most British people. People usually have a cup of tea with biscuits or cake. Scones and shortbread are favourites, too! There are hundreds of different teas but English Breakfast tea is the most popular.
